

A COUCH MEETS A HORSE

It was another fine day in National City. I, the Danvers Sisters Couch, was enjoying the sun with Kara. We were waiting on her sister Alex, and one of her new friends...William.

I don't know how I got so lucky to have Kara and Alex for a family. Alex had picked me up at a furniture store when she first got the apartment. When she joined the DEO, she gave the apartment to Kara. I was there when Winn first made her Supergirl outfit! I have been there for all the exciting things that have happened to them.

There was a knock on the door. Of course, Kara used her xray vision to see who it was. It was Alex and William.

"Come in," Kara said.

In, came the two. I didn't know what to make of William yet, but I had a feeling there was something up with him.

"Good morning", both said in unison.

"Are you ready to go Kara?" Alex asked.

"Almost, I need you to look at something. I hope you don't mind William?"

"Not at all", William said. With that, the sisters went behind the curtain and closed it. William came towards me and looked at me.

"And how are you this morning,Couch?" he asked.

I was so surprised. I didn't know what to do. How did he know that I was a sentient being? All of a sudden he changed into a horse. I had never met one of his kind before. Just heard of them.

"Why, I am doing great! And, you"? I asked.

"Very well, thank you".

And with that, he changed back into his human form, and not soon enough. The girls came from behind the curtain.

"Well, let's go". Kara proclaimed. And with that, they left. Good thing is..William's kind were known to be a peaceful race. Otherwise...I would have to have done something.